A TI Fellow and an employee of Texas Instruments since 1973, Dr. Larry J. Hornbeck was selected by the State Bar of Texas IP Section as Texas Inventor of the Year in 2006. Dr. Hornbeck invented the Digital Micromirror Device (DMD) in 1987, revolutionizing projection displays. TI's award-winning DLP® technology is predicated upon Dr. Hornbeck's work in the field.

Holder of 32 U.S. patents, Dr. Hornbeck has received numerous awards, including an Emmy from the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences, the David Sarnoff Medal Award from the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers, and the IEEE's Daniel E. Noble Award.

About the Dallas Bar Association and The Intellectual Property Section

Originally founded in 1873, the Dallas Bar Association is dedicated to the continuing education of its members and service to its community. Today, the DBA boasts more than 9,000 members in more than 25 practice areas.

The Intellectual Property Section of the Dallas Bar Association was established in 1994 to provide networking, support and programs to the growing number of IP attorneys in the Dallas area. With over 700 registered members in 2007, the IP Section is among the most active in the Dallas Bar. The Section's activities and annual proceeds support the science and technology educational initiatives in the Dallas area.
